

Doctors of Multiple Sclerosis

Chapter 1

By
Dr. Hashim Behbehani

It was rumoured about him that he had a very pleasant life for he got everything a human being can have. Yet he lived exotically which was an envy of everybody who knew him. He had the best education one could have. And this kind of education made him to be elitist in the society after all. Yet he got an envy of all the places he went through his life, he was above all surrounded by persons or rather by peers who could not accomplish what he could have as far as the exotic life he had all over. But at the same time he lived with poor people in different human affair of existence here. But he had one serious matter in his education for he has drawn to be accustomed for whatever he read to be factual which he believed to be a true factor in life. But then everything does have a price attached to it. One day the unthinkable did occur. For he began to feel tired and exhausted for no reason at all. And pain started to hit his body slowly, especially in his lower legs. He did not know what happened here. The whole family is a large one which he lived around it for everybody was troubled for seeing him for no reason apparently here. And many people advised him to see doctors and for that reason a new chapter in his life did surface in the open.

Then the charade of medical doctors began to come to see him. He was told without knowing anything that has come to him unwelcome disease that has been infected upon him that he got the symptoms called multiple Sclerosis. He never heard of such a disease and apparently he came to note here that it exists and is rare in the world of human being and such a charity only a few people could be infected by. And for being an avid reader and traveler around the world, so he read almost all the books written about this kind of disease he had. Then the charade of human lifetime begun. Then it became known about this person who is the envy many people began to whisper with coming of time it seem that those who were surrounding him to yet to come to a final conclusion that this person must be unstable mentally here. They were sure of this act regardless of whatever is occurring from now onwards. But he refused to accept such kind of talk because he simply thought of himself as being above everything those people were saying about him. Because he is an avid traveler he landed at Moscow airport. Moscow airport at that time was dominated by the Soviet Communist Party and it has high quality medical doctors who are the best in the world, and this is what they are famous for. At the noted of gathering with noted personalities in the world he sat besides a noted Russian medical doctor and she was very famous for her work, he began talking to her and told her the news that one of his relative has the rare disease of M.S. or rather Multiple Sclerosis. For that news the doctor was very astonished and asked the person how this is related. She was in her late thirties and kept quiet. The doctor at the same time was annoyed for hearing this news but this person asked her more what exactly is wrong? Where upon the doctor answered this news is very bad. Person who has M.S. is supposed to die within few months and she kept quiet. Few months did pass and the Soviet doctor herself she died from poor health?!!

Doctor of Multiple Sclerosis

Chapter 2

By
Dr. Hashim Behbehani

It should be noted here at the outset here that doctors for this disease of M.S. are basically a human beings and being as such they are liable to be mistaken about a cure for this kind of disease for none of them did experience such a disease, and consequently they mistaken cure for the patient who is undergoing such a serious disease after all. And better yet they have a different meaning for finding a way out for such a person from the disease of M.S. and moreover here since this doctor do not know what such a disease comes form they are able to give the patient mistaken ideas as far as the cure is concerned. And everybody lives with the patient as such as far as he or she can profit financially from such a person. And everybody lives with the patient as such as far as he or she can profit financially from such a person. And this kind of disease does above all confuse a patient of what he or she has been undergoing from this kind of disease, for it is logical to be a person confused above all for one simple reason since the patient does not know what are the causes for this disease to come and how to deal with it. And above all how long will it take for a person to be remedied from such a kind of disease and therefore this spate of confusion will last forever as long as the person will remain. This must be noted here that such a person since nothing is known about this kind of disease such a person does go through a very nice kind of mental kind of personal solitude of peace of kind of such an affair. And yet being at peace mentally is what the human being throughout his existence on earth does hope to accomplish in their life. For example here, the Buddhist religion as such does relish such an existence in human life, and this could be applied to the worldly human existence on earth.

Since both the doctors and the nurses don't know exactly what is wrong with the patient who is going under the power of such, it is logical here that the person must take anything here as a laughing affair but at the same time an expensive disease to make sure here. The truth here about this sort of disease, death is not a very common natural effect as suffering here from the disease. But it is very troublesome in different directions falling upon human body as such and one cannot be effected in an eternal matter for the human endures a matter that human mind can overcome any parts of the body which is infected here. Meanwhile he read all the books here on M.S. but the question was there were - each one is different from the other and nobody knew exactly where did this disease came from or how to approach it. But until this time of his going through this mal health he was told if he goes to New York in the U.S.A, there are doctors who are treating people concerned with this kind of disease. And he must go there and do whatever he could do, so he left to New York and met the doctor but the doctor was very apologetic and he told this patient who came from Arabia that there is no room in the hospital except woman's section and wondered if he minds or not. He didn't care at all as long as he had a separate room to relax and not accepting to live in the dorm. He stayed lonely in this isolated room in the women's floor in the hospital. And there were many in the room about the woman next door where other patient were sharing the room with him were saying it was amazing and beyond believe of the woman of New York which was loud for this matter and one of the patient began to talk about the love affair in life whereby she met this man and he told her he is in love with her and she did the same and he got her pregnant but then it became obvious to her that this lover was after her beautiful sister! The other one had moments of her acquaintance from her lover but then time upon time that he loved her that he wanted to make her a paradise and it became aware after getting her pregnant, that he was after her wealth! The third patient who was visiting here complaint about her lover too. And this lover became obvious to her later or that this lover needed nothing of her life except to be married to her because of her famous family name and he didn't mind of changing his family name just for her sake, but it became apparent with time that the lover was after her fame of the family! And the talk of betrayal dragged for a long time until they got too tired and split away. The patient had took into consideration here and slept his night in silence and until the next day when his doctor came accompanied by four nurses and a big acupuncture and asked him to lay on.

The doctor wanted to make spinal tube test. In the spinal tube to extract the liquid from this tube. The next morning the doctor came and informed the patient that he has M.S. disease for sure he has got M.S., with this he left New York to go back home. Once it was known for sure he was very relaxed because by now he knew for sure how to live his life. This illness was the last kinds of disease are basically emotional people. And being as such he knows what looks like and what not to expect from people as far as he is concerned. But then he had the available mind and he decided not to waste his mind on matter, which is not of concern to anybody here. His mind had told him the reality and this reality circled around the fact that life is beautiful and being as such is to carry this beauty with a laughter from there on and then this finally changed his life.